

Moving Places

(Original creator: aschetse)

So last weekend we had an internal move in the office. We're going to align the several different Compuware Business Units which we have in Amsterdam and bring them closer together in the office. This makes sense after being in this office for 4 years... For me this means I have to make a difficult decision: which retro Uniface poster am I going to use in the new room this time? (You have to know that I always have a few relics on my wall, as I am from that age as well) Here are the options. What do you think?

Aggressive 4GL Campaign from the UK in 1989

From the famous Elsevier campaign in the Netherlands in 1992

The first "Managing Change" campaign from France in 1995.